Turning No Into Not Yet: Objection Handling

Six core objections and the approved response strategy for each:

- "Too expensive" → compare material cost (wood <₹100/sq.ft. vs. SilverStone ~₹500/sq.ft.), reframe around lifetime cost and the 25-year guarantee.
- "Need to think about it" → offer a video, customer installation photos, a video call, or a home sample.
- "Already have a vendor/designer" → position Magppie as collaborative, not competitive — offer to coordinate with their existing team.
- "No showroom in my city" → trust built through systems, not showrooms; offer sample delivery, video call, or a nearby customer visit.
- "Never heard of Magppie" → lead with 50+ years group heritage and celebrity trust, offer brochure/video.
- "Why not granite/marble?" → natural stone is porous and mined (environmental harm); SilverStone is non-porous, engineered, uniform quality.

PART 2 · VERBATIM SOURCE MATERIAL (8 SECTIONS)

The sections of the master training document this module is built from — word for word, for reference and revision.

§4 — Objection: 'That's too expensive.'

VERBATIM SCRIPT — use this exact wording

"I completely understand. Let me share a quick comparison. If you look at branded modular kitchens using compressed wood, they are often in the same price range. But compressed wood costs under Rs. 100 per square foot, while our SilverStone costs around Rs. 500 per square foot just for the material." "Wood kitchens face termites, water damage, fungus, and release formaldehyde — which means repairs, pest treatment, and often full replacement within 5 to 7 years. Our stone kitchens stay as good as new for decades. When you add up the lifetime cost, Magppie often works out to be the smarter investment. Plus, we give a 25-year guarantee and 25 annual services, so you don't spend again and again on maintenance." "Would you like me to share a customised proposal for your layout so you can see the exact value?"

§4 — Objection: 'I need to think about it / discuss with family.'

VERBATIM SCRIPT — use this exact wording

"Of course, this is an important decision. May I send you a short video of our SilverStone kitchen and a few customer installation photos on WhatsApp? That way, you and your family can see exactly what we offer before deciding." "I can also arrange a quick video call with one of our experts, or send a sample to your home so you can feel the material yourself. Which would work better for you?"

§4 — Objection: 'I already have a vendor / interior designer.'

VERBATIM SCRIPT — use this exact wording

"That's great — having a professional involved always helps. We regularly collaborate with architects and interior designers. We can share technical drawings, 3D renders, and coordinate seamlessly with your existing team. In fact, many interior designers recommend us because SilverStone adds significant value to their projects. Would you like me to connect with your designer directly?"

§4 — Objection: 'How do I trust you without a showroom in my city?'

VERBATIM SCRIPT — use this exact wording

"That's a very valid question. Trust is built not just through showrooms, but through systems, accountability, and proven performance. We manufacture centrally with uniform quality standards, deploy in-house trained installation teams, provide written commitments, and offer pan-India guarantees and AMS support." "Meanwhile, we can arrange a sample delivery to your home, a video call with our expert, or even a visit to an existing customer installation near you. Which would you prefer?"

§4 — Objection: 'I've never heard of Magppie.'

VERBATIM SCRIPT — use this exact wording

"That's understandable — we are a premium brand and we don't mass-market like carpentry shops. Magppie Group has been in business for over 50 years, and our kitchens are trusted by families like the Ambanis, M.S. Dhoni, and Ranbir Kapoor. We recently won a global innovation award at KBIS 2026 in the USA. I'd love to send you our brochure and a short video so you can see why these families chose us."

§4 — Objection: 'Why not natural stone like granite or marble?'

VERBATIM SCRIPT — use this exact wording

"Natural stones are extracted through mining, which harms the environment — and that does not align with our Wellness philosophy. More importantly, granite and marble are porous. They absorb stains, harbour bacteria, and require periodic polishing. SilverStone is non-porous, antibacterial, anti-fungal, and requires zero maintenance. It is stronger than granite and more elegant than marble — and because it is engineered, every slab has uniform quality. Natural stone quality varies."

§4 — Objection: 'Is it very heavy? Will it damage my floor?'

VERBATIM SCRIPT — use this exact wording

"Stone is naturally denser than compressed wood, so the base material is heavier. However, the cabinet structure is specifically engineered to distribute the load evenly. Once installed, the weight is structurally balanced, so there is no impact on your flooring or daily usage. In fact, the operations are smoother than a wooden kitchen because we use our patented hardware."

§4 — Objection: 'Is it brittle? Will it break or chip?'

VERBATIM SCRIPT — use this exact wording

"Not at all. SilverStone is even stronger than granite and does not break or chip easily. Even if you drop a heavy metal utensil on it, it will not break. It is completely impact-safe. We tested this by dropping a heavy ceramic jar on the surface — the stone stayed intact."

PART 3 · VIDEO NARRATION SCRIPT (ENGLISH)

The narration for this module's video — readable now, listenable once the video is produced.

An objection isn't a rejection. It's a request for more information, and every one of them has a proven response.

'Too expensive' — reframe around material cost and lifetime value, not sticker price alone. 'I need to think about it' — offer a video, real installation photos, a sample, or a quick expert call. 'I already have a designer' — position Magppie as collaborative. 'No showroom in my city' — trust comes from systems, not physical presence; offer a sample delivery or a video call. 'Never heard of Magppie' — lead with the 50-year heritage and real client trust. 'Why not granite or marble?' — natural stone is porous and mined; SilverStone is engineered and uniform.

The pattern across all of them: never argue, never get defensive. Reframe, then offer a concrete next step.
