

Module 4

The Consultative Sales Pitch

The 8-stage flow — opening to next-steps handoff — in both channels: the phone/online version (verbatim) and the in-showroom version (same logic, different delivery).

Topics: pitch-flow · discovery-qualification · problem-agitation

The Consultative Sales Pitch

One flow, two channels. The logic never changes: open → discover → agitate the real problem → introduce the solution → go deep on the product → qualify budget BEFORE pricing → price with confidence → move to a concrete next step. Delivery differs by context.

The 8 stages (phone/online — verbatim source)

Stage | What happens | Key line / rule

1. Opening (15s) — Introduce, confirm time, building vs renovating — "Do you have a couple of minutes to talk?" [PAUSE 2s]
2. Discovery (30s) — City, own home vs investment, designer involved? — Confirms serviceability, budget context, coordination
3. Problem agitation (45s) — Hidden problems of wooden kitchens → formaldehyde — "Are you familiar with the World Health Organisation?" — WHO framing, softened language
4. Solution intro (30s) — World's first kitchens entirely from stone — "We call them Wellness Kitchens... designed to keep your family safe and healthy."
5. Product deep dive (60s) — SilverStone: silver/copper nano-particles, non-porous, guarantees — 25-year unconditional guarantee + 25 annual services + KBIS 2026
6. Budget qualification — Premium wellness vs basic carpentry — BEFORE any number — "Magppie is not in the carpentry segment."
7. Pricing (30s) — Range, what's included, alignment check — Rs. 8,400–10,800/sq.ft; "Does this range align with what you're considering?"
8. Next steps (20s) — Layout → customised estimate → WhatsApp handoff — "Can I send you a customised proposal for your layout on WhatsApp?"

PROBLEM AGITATION (VERBATIM CORE)

Most regular wooden kitchens have a lot of hidden problems... the biggest concern is something people can't even see — formaldehyde gas, released from plywood and MDF. WHO says formaldehyde can be very harmful for your health. It can lead to skin issues, asthma, and multiple reports say it can also cause cancer.

The showroom version (Sales Manager Script)

1. Re-qualify the visitor (who, city, project stage, designer involved)
2. Category reframe — wellness movement, not modular kitchens
3. Material-science walkthrough (SilverStone, live demos)
4. Wellness / premium justification
5. The 15-year value frame (lifetime cost vs wood)
6. Pricing
7. Payment terms [CONFIRM PAYMENT SPLIT]
8. Closure intent

The step order above comes from the Notion Sales Manager Script summary in the Sales Resources index. The full showroom wording has not been pasted yet — teach the flow logic now; the verbatim script lands when the Notion text is provided.

[CONFIRM PAYMENT SPLIT]

The payment-terms stage carries the unresolved 50/40/10 (AI Bot doc) vs 50/30/20 (Notion) conflict. See Module 6 — the quiz does not test a specific split.

PART 2 · VIDEO NARRATION SCRIPT (ENGLISH)

The narration for this module's video — the same voiceover you hear on the module page.

One flow. Two channels. Whether you're on a call or standing in the showroom, the logic of a Magppie pitch never changes.

Eight stages. Open. Discover. Agitate the real problem. Introduce the solution. Go deep on the product. Qualify the budget — before any number. Price with confidence. And close on a concrete next step.

The opening earns two minutes: introduce yourself, confirm it's a good time — then pause. Then discover three things: their city, own home or investment, and whether a designer is involved.

Then the truth most customers have never heard: most regular wooden kitchens have hidden issues — termites, mould, sagging. And the one nobody can see: formaldehyde gas from plywood and MDF. The World Health Organisation says formaldehyde can be very harmful for your health — reports link it to cancer.

Never quote before qualifying: are they looking at a premium wellness solution, or comparing with basic carpentry? Magppie is not in the carpentry segment.

Then the range: eighty-four hundred to ten thousand eight hundred rupees per square foot, by finish. A ten-by-ten kitchen typically lands between twelve and fifteen lakhs. Check alignment, then close on the layout: share your kitchen layout, and we'll prepare a customised estimate on WhatsApp.

In the showroom the same logic wears different clothes: re-qualify, reframe the category, walk the material science live, justify the premium, frame the fifteen-year value — then pricing, terms, and closure intent.
